What are cookies?

A cookie is a small piece of data that a website saves on your computer or mobile device when you visit the site. It enables the website to remember your actions and preferences (such as login, language, font size and other display preferences) over a period of time, so you don't have to keep re-entering them whenever you come back to the site or browse from one page to another.

How do we use cookies?

Our website uses both persistent and session cookies.

Persistent cookies: Persistent cookies are used to allow our website to recognize users when they return to our website and to remember certain information about their preferences. These cookies stay on your computer permanently, until you “manually” delete them.

Session cookies: Session cookies are used in order to allow users to carry information across pages of the website, without the need to re-enter such information, for example your log-in. These cookies are automatically deleted when you leave our website and go to another, or when you shut down your browser.

We are using this different types of cookies with different purposes:

Strictly necessary: Without these cookies our services might not function correctly. Such as our session cookie to show us if you are logged in.

Performance: We use several services to track anonymously which pages visitors visit on our website. This aggregated data is used for improvement analysis. If you're logged in to our platform we do track your visit, so we can provide a better service.

Functionality: These cookies are used to remember certain choices you made and what preferences you have. For example, the "remember me" cookie, so you don't have to log in every time you visit our website.

Next to that we might use third-party cookies to optimize the services of ONE.. We are using Google Analytics to collect aggregated data on the usage of our website (e.g. how many people visited certain pages, to track actions on our website, how long they stayed on our website etc.). For more information regarding those cookies visit the Google Analytics privacy statement.

We ensure that these cookies will not be used for any purposes other than the one stated above.

How to control cookies

You can control and/or delete cookies as you wish – for details, see aboutcookies.org. You can delete all cookies that are already on your computer and you can set most browsers to prevent them from being placed. If you do this, however, you may have to manually adjust some preferences every time you visit a site and some services and functionalities may not work.

We are happy to answer any questions regarding this cookie policy and/or our use of cookies. Please send an e-mail to legal@oneworks.co.
